

Chapter 1 Listening

Listening is not silence. It means making sure the other person feels understood.

Repeat the key sentence back before offering any suggestion.

Ask one open question and then wait for the answer.

Chapter 2 Asking

Open questions invite the other person to explain the situation in their own words.

Closed questions are useful only when you need a decision.

Chapter 3 Closing

Summarize what both sides agreed on before the conversation ends.

Always agree on a next step and a date.
